

Farmer Duck

There once was a duck that had the bad luck to live with a lazy old farmer.

The duck did the work, the farmer stayed all day in bed.

The duck fetched the cow from the field.

"How goes the work?" called the farmer.

The duck answered "quack."

The duck brought the sheep from the hill.

"How goes the work?" called the farmer.

The duck answered "quack."

The duck put the hens in their house.

"How goes the work?" called the farmer.

The duck answered "quack."

The farmer got fat through staying in bed.

And the poor duck got fed up through working all day.